Taxidermy Information

Taxidermists who can do museum quality work are few and far between. The mounting care and preservation of your trophies is critical to maintain their highest values whether it be for personal enjoyment or should you ever wish to donate or sell your collection. Hiring a museum qualified taxidermist is the best way to insure you trophies are mounted in the most realistic positions and that their true attributes are properly displayed.

After over 30 years of seeing thousands of mounts, we have found one artist whose work stands out above all others. His name is Ray Hatfield, and his company is Nature's Design Taxidermy. In our opinion he is the top museum quality artist working in the taxidermy industry today.

Ray's quality can be seen not only in his masterpieces, but also in his numerous top awards from the different Taxidermy Association. Ray won the 2005 World Taxidermy Championship. And with Nature's Design you are guaranteed to receive your trophies within 6 months. We trust our own trophies to Ray and his team.
